- 25X1 1. The Deutsche Kraftstoffe und Mineraloel-Zentrale (DKMZ)* used only the most necessary supplies of liquid fuels from its stocks during 1951. By far the greatest part was held back as so-called strategic reserve.
2. According to the 1951 plan, 500 million DM East were to be spent on the construction of 100 fuel storage depots (Lager). This amount was expended, but only 16 storage points were built. In 1952, 400 million DM East is planned to be spent on new fuel dumps.

25X1 Comment: Now Deutsche Handelszentralen, Kraftstoffe und Mineraloele.)
